

Office of the Regional Administrator

The Office of the Regional Administrator (RA) represents national environmental concerns, policies and programs within the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Region 6. It advises the Administrator/Deputy Administrator on program issues within the region, provides a regional perspective on national policy issues, and makes decisions in delegated areas of responsibility. The RA's

Office manages the region's resources to ensure effective use and development of personnel, high productivity, cost-efficient operations and support of the agency's equal employment opportunity and environmental justice goals. The office manages intergovernmental activities by working closely with state, tribal and local governments to attain national, regional, state, tribal and local goals. It translates national policy into programs which meet regional needs, makes decisions and manages programs in partnership with state environmental agencies and tribal governments. This ensures we meet annual agency initiatives, ongoing program goals and the Administrator's goal of managing for environmental results.

Office of the Regional Administrator (ORA)

Sam Coleman
Deputy Regional Administrator

Samuel (Sam) Coleman is the Deputy Regional Administrator for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region 6 in Dallas, Texas. Sam brings decades of EPA experience and leadership, from leading hazardous waste clean ups and emergency response missions to directing Region 6 enforcement activities. Mr. Coleman held several positions at EPA prior to his current position, including Director of the Superfund Division and, Director of the Compliance Assurance and Enforcement Division in Region 6 and Deputy Director of the Office of Site Remediation Enforcement at EPA Headquarters in Washington, D.C. He guided EPA's response to Hurricane Katrina as the agency's senior federal official in New Orleans, leading EPA's emergency response and recovery missions. For these efforts, he was awarded a Meritorious Presidential Rank Award in 2009. Sam has provided extraordinary leadership in cleaning up contaminated sites, from, complex efforts such as Tar Creek in Picher, Oklahoma, which holds millions of cubic yards of hazardous mining waste, to dozens of brownfields redevelopment sites across Region 6. By working with local, state, and tribal partners to clean up hazardous waste, Sam and his teams have improved the quality of life and brought economic development to communities throughout Region 6.

Office of External Affairs

The Office of External Affairs is responsible for maintaining effective relationships with federal, state, and local elected and appointed officials, community groups and media. The office also serves as the Regional Administrator's focal point for speaking events and Environmental Education. We help ensure key external stakeholders including academic institutions, industrial, environmental and public interest groups, the media and members of Congress are informed and involved with EPA's programs and decisions. We also provide information about the agency's programs and activities, advise senior leadership on information presentation and timing, prepare speeches and press releases, and are the point of contact for news media and members of Congress. All communication with Congress, whether by telephone or letters is, handled by this office. We monitor all state legislative sessions for potential bills that may impact environmental programs, operate the region's Public Information Center, and manage the public Web and social media.

Office of External Affairs (6XA)

David Gray
Director

David Gray is the Director of the Office of External Affairs with Region 6 in Dallas, Texas. He has directed the public affairs program since 1995 and has made it his mission to improve the public's access to the federal government and the public's awareness of EPA's activities. To help increase public awareness, David has led the effort to make senior government officials available to the media and the public through a wide range of events from community roundtables to conferences. He opened the first EPA Dallas Public Information Center providing toll-free public access for people living throughout the region. David has been with EPA since May 1987 and has been affiliated with almost every environmental program in the region.

Diane has been with EPA Region 6 for over 27 years. Her tenure began in the financial areas of the region involving budget, auditing, accounting and strategic planning. She also has experience in the air program and enforcement, and worked at Headquarters during execution of the 2009 stimulus bill to help set policy and procedures to facilitate the $6B in state revolving funds distributed nationally. Her analytical skills and ability to plan have made her a valuable asset.

Currently, Diane is the Deputy Director of External Affairs and has served in this capacity for the last seven years. Diane brings a sense of calm to this hustling office that usually works on quick deadlines. Her goal is to keep management apprised of what is best for the region and the agency.

Diane holds a double bachelor's degree in Accounting and Business Administration from the University of Kansas. Her passions include helping others through mentoring and providing guidance for their professional careers or personal challenges.

Office of Environmental Justice, Tribal & Int'l Affairs

The Office of Environmental Justice, Tribal, and International Affairs works closely with communities to facilitate culturally sensitive communication, find solutions, and reduce environmental challenges. The Environmental Justice (EJ) program's goal is to ensure that all people are protected from disproportionate impacts of environmental hazards by working with and on behalf of impacted communities. The U.S.-Mexico Border program honors commitments for joint U.S. and Mexico responsibility under the 1983 La Paz Agreement for protection of the environment and public health in the border region. The Tribal Affairs program serves 66 federally recognized Tribes on a government-to-government basis, consistent with their inherent sovereignty, to resolve environmental concerns. The Office of Environmental Justice, Tribal, and International Affairs also administers the General Assistance Program (GAP), which awards grants to tribes, implements the Border 2020 plan, and administers EJ2020 throughout Region 6.

Wren Stenger
Director

Wren is currently director of the Multimedia Planning and Permitting Division. After graduating from Cameron University with a Bachelor's Degree in Chemistry, Wren worked as a wet-bench chemist and helped establish a new laboratory for the municipal state-of-the-art tertiary wastewater treatment facility in Lawton, Oklahoma. She moved on to work in private industry as a process chemist in Vernon, Texas. Wren subsequently completed her Master's Degree in Environmental Sciences at the University of Texas at Dallas and began working for the EPA. Wren enjoys directing a multimedia program organization, strategic planning, process development, guiding organizational change, managing human resources, overseeing program activities, and finding solutions to big challenges.

Lisa is the Deputy Director of the Multimedia Planning and Permitting Division. After graduating from the College of William and Mary with a bachelor's degree in Geology, Lisa worked for a geotechnical engineering firm directing subsurface investigations for large-scale construction projects. Lisa joined the EPA working in the Philadelphia office in the emergency response program and then transferred to the Dallas office due to her spouse's employment relocation. As a staffer, Lisa has worked primarily in waste programs overseeing cleanups and revitalization efforts but enjoys learning about the multitude of programs within her division's purview.

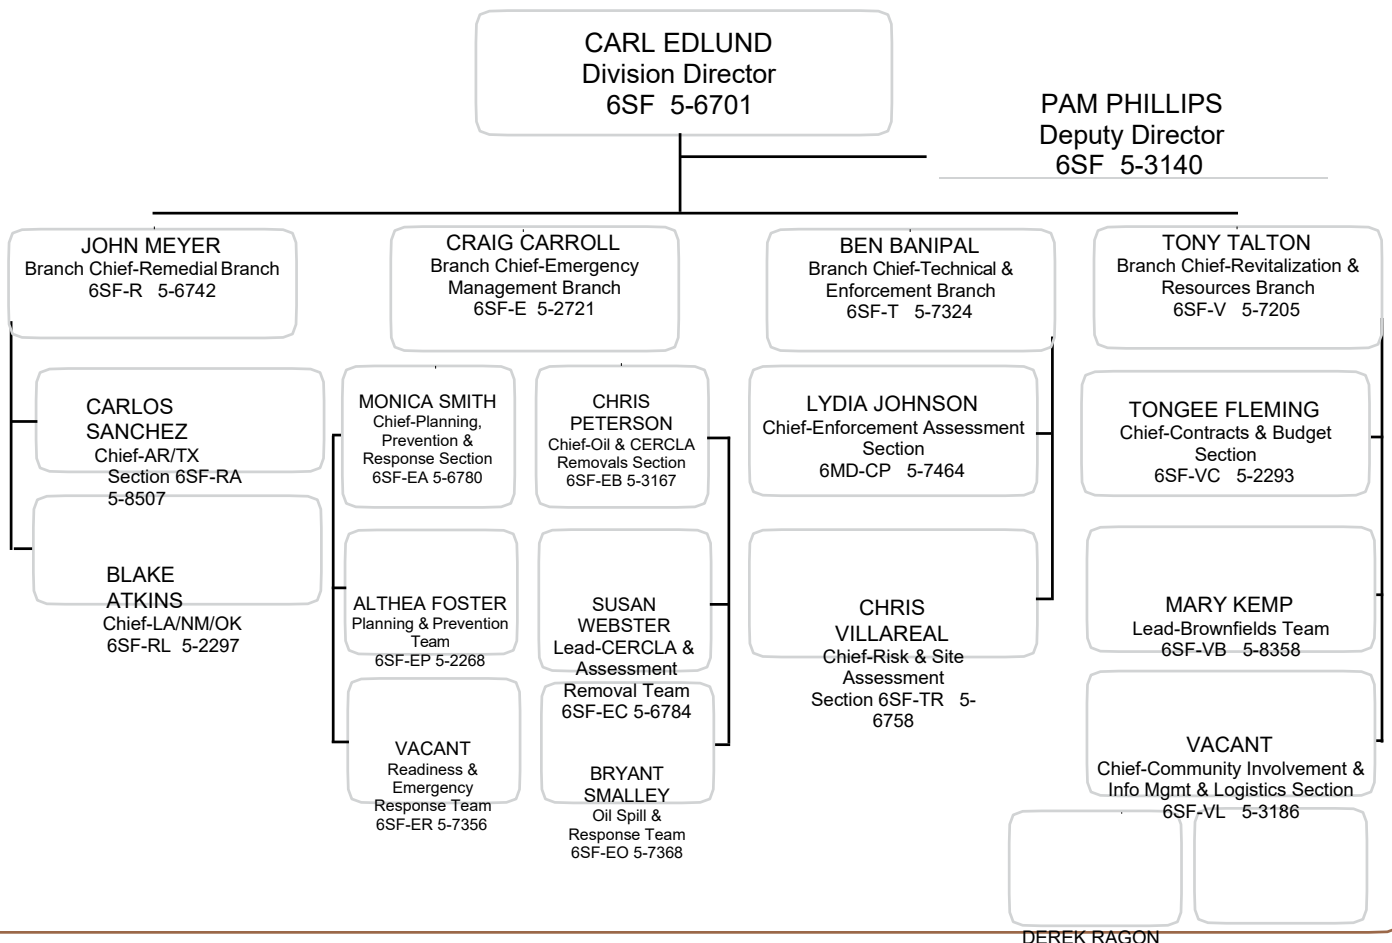

Multimedia Division (6MM)

Lisa Price
Deputy Director

Superfund Division

The Superfund Division implements and enforces the federal Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act, the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act, the Oil Pollution Act, and the Brownfields program. We clean up hazardous waste sites, respond to emergency pollution problems, and assist communities restoring contaminated land to a usable condition. The division manages grants and contracts to assist with funding and has a robust community outreach program.

DEREK RAGON

Superfund Division (6SF)

Carl Edlund
Director

Carl Edlund is the Director of the Superfund Division in EPA Region 6. Mr. Edlund joined EPA in 1970 and is a charter member of the organization. In Washington, he led a task force to successfully reduce pollution from steel mills.

After joining Region 6 in 1977, he managed the Air Enforcement Branch, the Resources Management Branch, and the Superfund Program Branch. In 1999, he was accepted into the Senior Executive Service and became the Director of the Multimedia Planning and Permitting Division. Four years ago, he returned to the Superfund Division as its director. During his career, Carl has received national recognition for innovation and leadership. Examples include; successful cleanup of hundreds of hazardous waste sites worth over $2 billion; developing innovative air pollution reduction plans that measurably benefit all 35 million people living in Region 6 states; and promoting environmentally safe reuse of hundreds of former hazardous waste sites that now benefit communities and leverage billions of dollars in development. Most recently, he directed the successful EPA response to Hurricane Harvey. He is a member of the Southern Methodist University Civil and Environmental Engineering Department Advisory Board and a past adjunct professor there. He also served as EPA's representative on the Presidential Good Neighbor Environment Board. Carl is married, has four children and many grandchildren.

Pam Phillips has been with the agency since 1979 and has been the Deputy Director of the Superfund Division since 1995. Pam started as an enforcement attorney and was the lead agency attorney on many of the original Superfund and Resource Conservation and Recovery Act cases filed in Region 6. She has worked in all of the agency enforcement programs, but has spent most of her time in the Superfund program. In 1994 and 1995, Pam worked in the Office of the Regional Administrator as the Enforcement Coordinator. Through the years Pam has had several long -term details to EPA headquarters to work on everything from contract issues to Superfund programmatic issues. Pam is one of the few people in Region 6 who has worked in both the legal offices and the programmatic offices. Pam is a 1976 graduate of the Southern Methodist University Law School and a 1973 graduate of the University of Texas at Austin.

Water Division

The Water Division provides oversight and implements Clean Water Act and Safe Drinking Act programs in Region 6. The division communicates EPA's national and regional operating guidance to the states and tribes and assists them in developing comprehensive water programs through federal funding and technical assistance. With these and other resources, states develop the capability to assume federal water programs through delegation agreements. The division also provides technical and financial assistance to state and local agencies and to tribes. The division directly implements programs in non-delegated states and on tribal lands.
